Lalit Kaira(13/04/1985)

About Lalit Kaira: -

Born in hills of kumoun as an illfated one to wander in this world to seek something. what? ? ? ? ? don't know.....

There are no many things about my life when I awoke and tried to find something I found myself ignorant even about myself. No specific conclusion is drawn and running for something.

Lastly this man, Lalit Kaira is still in quest of himself so knows nothing now to describe himself except he loves mountains, rivers, bugyals(grasslands) , pain, what he has lost and Hamlet.

Rest when I found the answers.

Course of life: -

Born to Mr Tara Singh And Mrs Tara Devi in april 1985 and by a ritual named Lal Singh later the mother changed it as Lalit Kaira. I was educated in a primary village school where I learnt how to bunk class to taste KILMODA & HISALU (kinds of wild fruits of some shrubs) . Not only the taste the colour of those juicy plumps fascinated me but made me brave also and I didn't think about the furious and haunting stick of our GURUJI(The teacher) . As a student I did nothing that could strike your attention since I was busy in wandering in meadows and dense forests, kissing fresh morning breeze and freshening cool evening streams and spent my days in the moonlit light near Gagaas (A local river) and days in a garden where I could also devour mangoes and pears.

I enjoyed a lot and my heart was full of emotions and strange sentiments brimming over and I was panic to express myself because no one was there to listen me patiently then I turned to paper and really I found paper is more patient than human being.....

A River Bank

A river bank I'm Evergreen lover of her I'm destined to wait forever with restless and wet eyes or melt down into stream
I'm river bank
Alas! rivers have banks
but banks occupy no river.....

A Stanza In Praise Of Lust

Can you perish your need For flesh and blood and heed
No love for paradise? Lust O'hear only is the mover of the wheel Cry not, spirit'd died, heal
Your wound, inhale the young gust.
Love love love! wait I remember Bullshit your Self sure is in danger.

Barsana

Gokul Mathura and Barsana than Dwarika and the whole universe at the end
O matchless beauty!
If my life is compared to painting Barsana is the colour of that painting Gokul-Mathura is the skeleton and Dwarika.....
Dwarika is the perfectness of the the artist and this universe is of the art.
Gokul-Mathura are my limbs Dwarika my brain and I myself am the Universe but Barsana-Barsana is my heart and you are the heartbeat that's why you were in Barsana not in Dwarika you were in my heart.

Irom I Miss You

Irom!

I miss you in me

(I was born like Irom Alas! I could not live like her.)

You still keep knocking the gate of my heart.

And I've imprisoned you somewhere very deep in my heart and you often call but I overhear.

(They can keep you in prison

But not your spirit

Your longing for dawn.

Nobody can cease the dawn)

Irom!

My dormant Irom!

You are the living source of energy,

The way of a worth living life goes through you.

I know what you want-

You want to make my dead life alive.

A true lovely fearless life

You want to gift me.

This is what I have always been longing for.....but

But I'm afraid-

Irom!

I don't know-

Why I love you..

And

Why I cannot accept you.....

It Rains

Here blows blessing
Here blows love
Washes wounds and cure Tender touch
How divine, how gentle, how pure.

Flowers smile and Grass lifts head
Trees bows in reverence
' A saints prayer'
So serene, so soft, so fair.
Oh, it rains.

Knowing Is Ignorance

She met me in a story, she was as fresh as a virgin capitulum Of barley in fabulous February the sun flashed in her grin.
She loved to kill and killed to redeem, came from the smog and like a thundering beam danced and decay the world in you.
She had no shadow and a stagnant heart beat under her cruel breast.
The teller portrayed her a godly demon whose stabs were worth undergo.
Soon we part. I came out of the tale and took my way to deep dark woods.
It was the month of May we met again, not in the story but this time in a song of her own
that I found near a rivulet beside a desolate cave...
She was in pain and crying her 'teller' ruined her.
She looked as a stale piece of stinky bread under the schroching sun.
She was killed by love and was loved to subjugate.
Came from the mist and covered everything, and ate the voices of consciousness for there were no souls mere bodies: full of lust lust for power, for wealth for wisdom, for flesh.
She had no body, she was a shadow then.
Before the song speared, I was thrown out.
She closed her blazing eyes and whispered "see you soon, but that time in you, ha! we both will drink a cocktail of life and death."
I cry, I laugh, I hide, I loath

The Treasure in me has been lost..
I wait for her and wait for her.

Let Me Lie

On a grassy velvet carpet Silently, let me lie.....
Let the death be my beloved Keep away all hue and cry, silently let me lie....
I'll be waiting till she reach
In the evening beneath the beech Three warm kisses I beseech.
Than I part from you my dear,
See me off with happy eye, silently let me lie....
Death is but a life again
Love is a bliss with some pain Emptiness the holiest strain
So, on the void ways of life
Let me be a passer-by, silently let me lie....

Lalit Kaira

Love

My love divine!
I feel you always
In my mother's pampering me
In dance of tree
For rain and cloudy sky.
Unexpected is your love.
A string regular, loaded of finest love Enthrall me.
How much love,
O' you bear for your puppets.

Lalit Kaira

Moon And You

Last night, when Moon was half in the sky
I thought about myself
And after few days I'll miss you when I'll see the full moon.

Incomparable is the distance between you and me

My self has been wasted in Some forest of concrete Noise of this metropolice city gobbles
My cries up, Smoke kills.

you will ask 'why'
Don't you sir?
I lead a dumb and deaf life
Some day if you come and pass without a single word Throwing a light eye on me Will I be able to see you or not can't say Probably I'll feel your eyes on my burning heart as A soft touch of child's Tender hand.

Ahh!
'my hungry bloods'
I forget when I think Perhaps I don't miss you very often But after melting my bones day and night whenever I see the full moon
I miss you
And the distane
Between you and me

Becomes vaster.

Now A Days

The silence rules me these days
For someone has stolen my words my laughs
my screams my zeal to live and my dreams made me cry in long boring day and haunted nights
My love is a sin and my poems are absurd
for Someone has stolen my words.

I'm lost
I've died
I'm wrong
As a culprit
As a dead song
Nobody sings
Nobody plays
Nobody even wishes to hear Alas!
I've neither love nor hatred nor fear
Nor a wish to be heard
For Someone has stolen my words.

Seperation

O my beloved!
I don't want to explain the love
I bear for you.
How poor you are O my love to give love
In lieu of love.
I don't blame for what you have thought
Or done
To me of your ignorance or Something else.
Pardon me for being harsh or rude
You know love
Love and jealousy go hand in hand.
Live your life as you think always fit to you.
Get this old fashioned and rough photo out Of the all glittering frame of your life.
Love you live long and happy.
I'll die every day to wish you All the very best.

Lalit Kaira

They Said Love

They said love
I guess the way to the world
I's accused obscure and null
I fear the old sculptureHelen, Cleopatra, Wars
The dreadfull end of Agmannen
They put Him before me Creating Adam and Eve In the Eden and warn if I reject them to burn in fire under Hades Obscure
Yes I am and non believeR if Children keep going school fearless Mothers worry not for their sons Outside and lovers don't betray And bodymass index is normal Unsolved papers, couples, clouds (I don't believe)
Sure I'll bow that was love.

What Are You For Me

You do not know
Really, really you do not know
What are you for me?
Me too... my love!

In rage
In love
In peace
In madness
In reason
In jealousy
I've asked many times to me
What you are for me.

And all the time
All the senses become numb.

Your voice makes me deaf to the rest of the world,
Your appearance calms me,
Your touch alienate me in my own body
Neither you are Helen nor 'Rati'
But less, ordinary.

Soul to body
Salt to the world
Grief to the philosophy
Love for the life Death for the all miseries
But
But what for me?
I am always unanswered, My love?

Lalit Kaira

Yes I Do

Whenever I think of you Lady of mine as I dreamt
Let me tell you
I think of Egyptian Charm
Fall of Antonio
His wife and subject crying Caesar's ship drowning and and one more power melting in your loose beautiful hands.
I recall destroying Troy Dying Herculise.....
I weep I repose
But Still I dare to say
I love you
Yes, I do.
